Dear Sir

I send you herewith proofs of the two photographs you sent us for approval. You stated in your letter that they were to be printed on "Vellum". I take it that you mean "Japan paper" which is sometimes called Vellum. I send two copies of each on this paper, and two of each on steel plate paper.

I don't quite understand about having me to sign the pictures, I sometimes put my imprint under each picture, but rarely ever sign them. Possibly you mean for us to print the titles under each subject? Kindly explain what we are expected to do and we will take pleasure in following your directions.

Yours truly
E. Bierstadt
